

Georg Jensen streamlines global training with Damstra's LMS

The challenge – Streamline processes to reduce training time, and save on cost and resources across their global operations

- Move inductions & inhouse training online to ensure consistency on a global scale, and make time & cost savings freeing up resources
- Enable engaging interactive content to be created inhouse and shared easily

The Solution – Damstra's Learning Management Solution was implemented and rolled out globally

- Inductions & inhouse training are now completely online and are consistent across each country
- Interactive lessons are purchased, and also easily developed inhouse with the built-in video editor and cover a wide range of topics

The Benefits – Global consistency for inhouse training, and cost & time savings

- In house training is consistent globally, and resources have been freed up, leading to cost & time savings
- Over 250 engaging, interactive lessons have been published, many created by Georg Jensen inhouse, which represents over 25,000 lessons completed on the platform reducing training time significantly, and engaging employees
